Tickets are also conveniently available online at: www.WildRiversSymphony.org

The Wild Rivers Symphony, a non-profit volunteer community orchestra led by Daniel Sedgwick, is comprised of more than fifty Del Norte County and Curry County musicians devoted to live performance of orchestral music from classical to cutting-edge. Taking advantage of the wealth of talented wind and brass players in our communities, Wild Rivers Symphony also features a full wind ensemble in addition to the symphony orchestra.

The “At the Movies” concerts feature great film scores and music selections from diverse popular movies—from classic to comedy and even a beloved cartoon! Highlights include the symphony’s superb concertmaster violinist, Kristina Anderson, playing the soulful Schindler’s List, composed by John Williams. Concert attendees will also be treated to music from Star Trek: Into the Darkness, Silverado, The American President, Mulan, Krull, Tom and Jerry, and a trilogy of Star Wars hits. In short, a program of delights for all.

Wild Rivers Symphony’s spring concerts are a great way to celebrate spring—the season of creativity, color and joy—after a long, cold winter! Come out of hibernation and take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to enjoy live music at its best. Ticket sales and patron donations help support not only the symphony’s growth and repertoire, but also its mission and commitment to fostering the music education, talents, and aspirations of community youth.

Community members are invited to support the symphony to bring fabulous live music to the Wild Rivers area, as well as sponsor scholarships for college-bound teen orchestra members.
