

The Golden State Contributes to Keep the House Red

November 20, 2024

At the time of publishing this article, the House of Representative appears to tenuously remain in Republican control.

The current tally of the 435 Congressional seats shows the count at 217 Republicans and 207 Democrats. 219 is the magic number for House control.

If the trend remains and the House stays RED, President-elect Trump 47 will have swept the Big Three, The Trifecta: Presidency, U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives.

California takes a major credit for this event, flipping ten Blue counties to RED; thus flipping possibly two Congressional seats.

According to the extremely close-count races and acknowledging at least 10 of 58 counties have flipped to RED, since the 2020 National election.

Orange goes from Blue to Red.

Orange County becomes the second coastal county joining Del Norte to turn RED. The margin was narrow with a 49.2 percent for President-elect Trump, leading a 48.2 percent Kamala Harris votes. Orange County gave the majority of its votes to Hillary Clinton in 2016 and Joe Biden in 2020.

Riverside County flipped to RED giving President Trump 49.7 percent to Harris 48.2 percent margin.

Butte County flipped RED with 49.5 to 47.7 percent.

San Joaquin County went RED to 49.9 to 47.5 percent.

Other counties turning Republican include Nevada, Merced, and Stanislaus counties.

The battle for the House continues.
