

Merging Two Cheese families: Rumiano and Sartori

July 21, 2025

Question: What happens when you merge two award winning, four-generation Cheese companies?

Answer: You get outstanding, award-winning heritage-rich, arguably the most delicious Cheeses on the globe.

Sartori Cheese company, Plymouth, Wisconsin has purchased iconic Rumiano Cheese, Crescent City, California.

All Sartori farms are located in the Badger state.

The merger was finalized after Memorial Day.

CEO Bert Sartori plans no changes from the highest quality Rumiano, except to win more awards.

The most dedicated employees, the very best milk equals the very best cheese.

Sartori brings five different cheese categories:

- Bella Vitano: nine different cheeses
- Cheddar: six different cheeses
- Parmesian: three different cheeses
- Asiago: Two different cheeses
- Snacking cheeses: four different cheeses

Head over to the Sartori/Rumiano cheese factory, 511 9th Street and sample seek your favorites. You might find a whole bunch of favorites