

Crescent City dentist expands practice

February 21, 2023

James Standring, DDS, is expanding his practice in Crescent City.

With the construction you might observe ongoing at his office on Northcrest at Washington, one might think his dental practice has been interrupted or his practice has been sold to a new dentist. Quite the contrary.

Dr. Standring has built a second story which will house new state-of-the-art technology equipment and add additional needed storage space. Two new exam rooms will complement the existing four rooms, plus a lab will be up and ready during this hectic construction period.

Dr. Standring will be increasing his square footage 25 percent. Standring expects to have all construction completed by June. An announcement stating water damage has curtailed patient access is not correct.

The dentist opened his practice on 9th Street in 1987 under Dr. Aubell. Within three years, Standring stood alone. In the year 2000, Standring moved to his current Northcrest Drive location. As the dental profession has evolved, so has Standring. One bit of advice - be patient. His backup for appointments may be as long as three months. Standring is accepting new patients and can be reached at (707) 341-7866
