By Pacific Power News Release September 29, 2026

PORTLAND, Ore. (September 28, 2026) — The Pacific Power Foundation is proud to support four Northern California organizations working to protect the environment and strengthen their communities.

Funding will help provide hands-on outdoor education for students, expand volunteer initiatives and support career training programs that create opportunities for the community.

“Across the region, these organizations are empowering their neighbors to learn new skills and care for the environment around them,” said Ryan Flynn, director of the Pacific Power Foundation and president of Pacific Power. “We are pleased to support this meaningful work and the positive impact it has on our communities.”

These funds were awarded through the Pacific Power Foundation’s Community Enhancement and Environmental Respect grant cycle. Organizations interested in applying for the Foundation’s next grant cycle, Safety and Wellness, may apply by December 15.

The following organizations in Northern California received funding during this grant cycle:

Friends of Del Norte Fairgrounds in Crescent City received $5,000.
The Hornbrook Community Association in Hornbrook received $2,000.
The Redwood Parks Conservancy in Crescent City received $2,000.
The Siskiyou Community Resource Collaborative received $3,000.
