

Letter: Hendrick's column will be missed

July 23, 2024

I want to thank Kevin Hendrick for his “In my View” column, which he has written for the Triplicate the past two years.

I greatly appreciate the effort he put into his weekly column, the range of subjects covered and the depth of his explanations. I never thought the column was too long and I applaud his effort to always separate fact from opinion.

At a time when politics has lost civility, where more and more citizens get their news from social media and propaganda cable networks, he has been a voice for moderation and reason.

I hope after a well-deserved break Hendrick will once again be bitten by the writing bug and he will again share his learning and insights with his fellow citizens.
