

Letter: Maybe Trump did win

July 7, 2022

I hate to admit it, but it almost appears the tyrant Trump did win. The brutish and petulant sore loser who still clings to the big lie that he won the presidency, which has been debunked countless times, can take a victory lap over his terrible SCOTUS appointments.

Those three lying justices, along with Clarence Thomas who should resign over his wife's dealings trying to overthrow our democracy, pushed the court to appease the draconian forced birthers by getting rid of Roe. They also struck down a New York law that wanted concealed weapons permits to show reasons to carry.

I guess easy access by anybody who wants to carry concealed weapons and forcing women to give birth under any circumstance, is high priority in this Trumpian court. Both rulings that a large majority in this country are against. Thomas also threw more red meat to the crazy right by saying gay rights and birth control could be under scrutiny also. Careful Clarence, your rabid fans might want you to also roll back the clock on interracial marriages. If so, would you divorce your conspiracy theorist wife?
