

Letter: Masten Champions North Coast Fishing Jobs

October 28, 2022

As someone who has worked for decades to restore the badly damaged west coast salmon fishing industry, once the economic mainstay for the Port of Crescent City, I urge voters to elect Sue Masten to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors.

When she worked for the Yurok Tribe, Ms. Masten played a major role in helping to restore the Klamath River's damaged salmon runs, and as a supervisor will continue efforts to bring back hundreds of lost Crescent City fishing industry jobs. She is a natural bridge-builder, well respected among many different groups, an experienced major project manager -- and she gets things done! She has already distinguished herself as a temporary replacement on the board, and will make a fine and hard-working elected Supervisor. She deserves your vote!
