

Letter: Time to cut taxes

December 13, 2023

I am writing to express my strong support for the elimination of the statewide sales tax and a reduction in the gas tax in the state of California. These measures would not only put more money in the wallets of Californians but also alleviate the financial burden on households.

Removing the sales tax on goods and services, especially essentials like groceries and gas, is a commendable step towards easing the cost of living for residents. It directly impacts the daily expenses of families, allowing them to allocate funds to other crucial needs.

Furthermore, a reduction in the gas tax is essential to provide relief to both individuals and businesses, particularly in a state where transportation is a significant part of daily life. Lowering this tax would contribute to decreased overall expenses for Californians.

In these challenging economic times, such measures can stimulate local spending and support the financial well-being of the citizens. I urge policymakers to consider these proposals earnestly for the benefit of all Californians.
