

Letter: Get ready for illegal 4th of July fireworks

June 28, 2022

Well it looks like the “celebration” of our nation’s birth is off and running already. On the evening of June 16, our usual peaceful neighborhood was rocked by around six large explosions by what most likely were illegal fireworks. Explosions that were the kind that make you jump and shock your senses. Where your pets run and hide while violently shaking.

And once the first one sets off, you know more are coming so you wait in anxious anticipation for the next assault. These are not the Safe and Sane fireworks made for family entertainment, but rather annoying and dangerous “toys” usually set off by alcohol and drug fueled “parties.”

I doubt any of the participants at these gatherings even know about the Declaration of Independence. Just an excuse for breaking laws and disturbing the people around them.

As we get closer to the 4th of July, we can only anticipate these illegal assaults will get worse. So batten down the hatches, medicate your poor pets, and maybe yourself, until the 4th is behind us for a couple weeks.

Rick McNamer

Smith River

